

Clinical Examination Station 9

9 minutes with up to 1 minutes for feedback

You are a surgical SHO on a neurosurgical ward. Your consultant and registrar have had to attend an emergency, and have asked you to continue the wardround. The next patient, whom you have not met before, is Mr Cross, who fell down some stairs 3 weeks ago. Please assess his upper and lower limb neurology. You should then present your findings and you will then be asked some questions regarding the management.

Neurological examination

Candidate performs full neurological examination of the upper and lower limbs and presents findings in a comprehensive and succinct fashion.

What is your differential diagnosis for the cause of the findings?

Further discussion and questions relating to case and further management.

Overall impression of the candidate Please encircle your mark

FAIL BORDERLINE FAIL BORDERLINE PASS PASS

If you have any specific comments about this candidate please write them in the box.